A young Jewish woman disrupts a perfectly planned Polish wedding. She is dead, uninvited and will not leave until the groom takes the shovel and digs out the uncomfortable past.

Python is a stranger in the home town of his future wife Janet. As a wedding gift from the bride's grandfather he receives a piece of land where the two can build a house and raise a happy family. While preparing the land for house construction Python finds hidden bones of human bodies in the ground beneath his new property. From then on very strange things begin to happen.
